About APASL Ever since its inception, in August 1978 in Singapore, APASL (Asian Pacific Association for the Study of the Liver) has never looked back and continually adheres to its goal of advancing the science and practice of Hepatology. Today it is one of the leading associations based on the investigation and treatment of liver diseases in the world and the largest scientific body to uphold the standards and profession, research and create improved treatment methods for millions of liver patients particularly in the entire Asia Pacific Region. APASL's main objectives are to promote the latest scientific advancement and education of hepatology science, exchange of information and the development of consensus, encourage the practice of medicine in liver diseases and also coordinate scientific studies between various scientists and clinicians throughout the region. We hold scientific educational symposia/conferences developed by leading hepatologists periodically. Our events feature expert speakers presenting the finest data on the most happening topics of liver diseases with high quality scientific technical presentations, followed by varied supporting programs. Each of our events is intended to meet the growing demands of hepatology as the core medical specialty and offers participants the right platform to exchange research, discuss outcomes, and interact with colleagues, focused on liver diseases. Our members include all medical professionals dedicated to hepatology-its research, practice and care. We cover the region from Manchuria in the North, to Australia in the South, to the Pacific Islands in the East and Iran in the West. Our members are elected on their documented scientific publications. Mentoring, sharing of knowledge and dedication to professional growth and development are among the core values of APASL and its members.

1. Welcome Message

It is a great pleasure for us to invite you to the 25th Asian Pacific Association for the Study of the Liver (APASL 2016) that will be held on February 20-24, 2016 in Tokyo, Japan. We are delighted to welcome you to the cultural, historical and scenic metropolis of Tokyo.

Under the theme of “Modern Hepatology”, the conference program will perform high quality content with full of maximum up-to-date information and cutting edge lectures by eminent researchers, to show mature, time-honored, well-established explanation of Hepatology in order to reconfirm their significance by scientists and clinicians for the achievement of better both basic and clinical practice.

The conference aims to raise awareness of the current status and future prospects to develop a better understanding of the roles, objectives and operations of the various institutions, academics, companies, associations, non-profit organizations, and other related sectors, in order to enhance communication and collaboration within all of us, to deliver mutual benefits to the people in the Asian Pacific region, where liver disease has been one of the most common and serious problems.

As more than 4,000 delegates of experts from all over the world, more than 60 countries are expected to attend this Asian Pacific’s largest liver conference, we are sure that this is the perfect opportunity for those of us in the Asian Pacific region to share state-of-the-art views, values, experiences and practices regarding liver diseases, such as Viral Hepatitis (A, B, C, and E), Liver Cancer, NASH, Liver Failure and other topics.

We cordially invite you to join this conference and exploit to the full opportunities for enhancement and increasing exposure in the Asian Pacific region in order to promote your products/researches and present/obtain the most current information. APASLS 2016 will provide all of you with the great prospect to consolidate relationships and expose your brands to the key markets. We would like to request you to please reserve your space to share this fruitful conference with us.

We are looking forward to hearing from you, and welcome you to Tokyo.

With warmest regards,

Osamu Yokosuka, MD., PhD.
President, The 25th Conference of the
Asian Pacific Association for the Study of the Liver
Dean, Chiba University Graduate School of Medicine
